

Dear Sirs/Madames: It is my understanding that the FCC is proposing to expand a broadcast service known as Low Power FM (LPFM) in my area in a way that would allow these new LPFM stations to take priority over current FM translator service. I currently listen daily to a translator signal call K-LOVE, which serves me, my family, and many friends as residents of the local community. It would be devastating to us if K-LOVE were to be displaced by an LPFM broadcaster providing other programming. K-LOVE has done so much in providing hope and encouragement to not only my family, but the community at large, with its positive and family-oriented programming. My young children can listen all day to K-LOVE with me and I never have to be concerned about them hearing offensive or degrading DJs or commercials. We recently discovered my son has Autism and Sensory Integration Deprevation, and have had to enroll him in specialized Special Education classes. I cannot tell you how K-LOVE has brought hope, encouragement and peace to our family during these times. I believe that the service provided by K-LOVE is in the public's best interest, as there are so many other stations pointing our children to sex, drugs and lack of self-control; K-LOVE, instead, provides positive direction and choices. This assists us as parents in encouraging our children to make wiser, safer choices.

Please, DO NOT allow K-LOVE to be replaced by an LPFM which may not have the same family-friendly programming that I, and my family, and friends have come to enjoy and so appreciate. Thank you so much for taking my comments under consideration.

Sincerely,

Marcella Hasche
